Improve Your Handwriting with Nan Jay Barchowsky

Saturday, November 6 10-11:30am
Fairfax High School

This course is open to all levels (youth and adult) who want to revisit their penmanship and improve their handwriting's speed and legibility.

Nan Jay Barchowsky has more than twenty years experience in handwriting instruction. Seventeen of those years in elementary classrooms. She bases her program principally on her observations of children's capabilities, and the hand and finger movements that are easiest and natural to form characters. The success of her method is based on instruction of italic models from the United Kingdom.

Supplies to bring: 8 1/2 x 11 unlined paper, #2 pencil (or B grade art pencil), broad-edged fountain or cartridge pen, slant board (optional)

Templates will be provided by instructor. Visit her site, www.bfhandwriting.com.

Parallel Pen Wizardry with Brenda Broadbent

Saturday, November 6 12 noon-1:30pm
Fairfax High School

Brenda Broadbent brings immense enthusiasm and knowledge in presenting this marvelous tool. Learn tips and tricks for color-blending and lightfast work. Participants will learn how to disassemble and reload this pen with other inks, gouache and watercolor in order to explore this pen's features.

Supplies to bring: any non-exotic layout paper, any favorite inks and a Pilot Parallel pen (if owned)

Pilot Parallel pens will be on loan during the class as well as for sale during Calligrafest.

Her book, "Parallel Pen Wizardry," is also for sale and is profusely illustrated and highly resourceful.

Visit her site, www.paperinkarts.com, for further details.
